Bringing down borders between art forms

As has always been the Festival's hallmark, international superstars and up-and-coming artists, in addition to leading Icelandic artists, will perform at the Festival. This year, many events will bring together more than one art form and erase the conventional borders that separate them.

Reality Check - Focus on photography

The focus is on photography at this year's Reykjavik Arts Festival. This focus aims to reflect the importance of the photograph in today's culture, in recording reality, in the arts and in all forms of communication. Twenty exhibitions of photography in various galleries, museums and in the streets will be held as well as several events connected to them.
